The Ten Habits of Highly Successful Board Designers

By Dr. Eric Bogatin

President, Bogatin Enterprises, LLC

You can't learn everything you need to about signal integrity in one hour, or in one day or even in one week. But most engineers don't have the time to spend weeks learning the field. If all you will ever spend studying signal integrity is one hour, this is the hour you should take. By leveraging just ten design habits described in this lecture, any engineer can dramatically improve the signal integrity performance of their high speed products.

About the Speaker:

Eric received his BS in physics from MIT and MS and PhD in physics from the University of Arizona in Tucson. He has held senior engineering and management positions at Bell Labs, Raychem, Sun Microsystems, Ansoft and Interconnect Devices. Eric has written 4 books on signal integrity and interconnect design and over 200 papers. His latest book, Signal Integrity - Simplified, was published in 2004 by Prentice Hall. He has taught over 4,000 engineers in the last 20 years. Class descriptions and many of his papers and columns are posted on www.bethesignal.net
